

Q:

War in Sri Lanka is over and it has been about 2 years since. Do you think the government has taken necessary steps to promote life of the war-torn areas?

A:

[Translated] yes, I think so. I didn't got the chance to actually visit those areas. But according to local newspapers and mass media, I think government is greatly involved in that reconstruction work

S:

Voted positive

Q:

Do you think there's a development in the war-torn areas after the 2 years of war?

A:

[Translated] yes of course there's a huge development going on. Last month I went there with my friends and saw the development. It was amazing to see these after 30 years. I m so happy about it.

S:

Voted positive

Q:

What do you think about the development process in the war-tone areas after the end of the war?

A:

Or sorry I can't answer this question. I'm not interested about it.

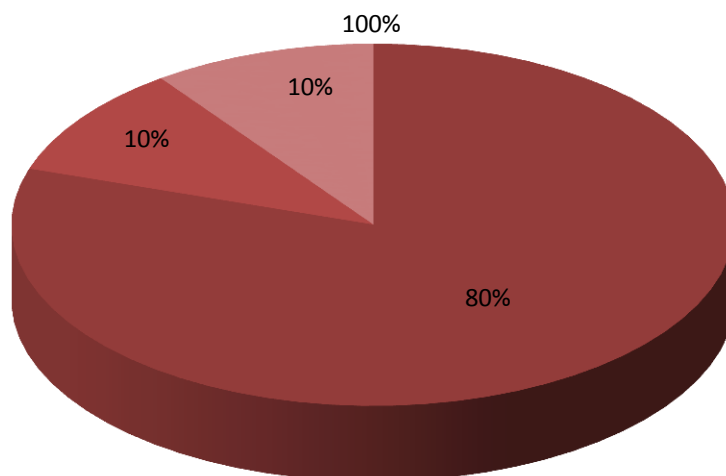

S:

Not answered

Results

Results

- Answer Yes
- Answerno
- didn't answer

This result is calculated out of 10 people voted to answer

Conclusion

we conclude that 80% of people answered positively and 10% gave negative answers.

10% refused answering the question.